

Jenkins County Memorial Library News 5-11-22

Looking for something fun to do this weekend? Stop by the library between 11 am and 2 pm this Saturday, May 14 for our first ever Board Games Day! We'll have lots of great board games to play, and we're looking for people like you to help us make this the most fun we've had in ages!

Speaking of fun things to do, next Saturday, May 21 will feature the return of one of our favorite programs, Paint @ the Library! This free adult painting class will be held at 11 am and all supplies will be provided.

If you're looking for something that the little ones will enjoy, bring them to the library on Tuesdays at 11 am for our storytimes! We will read them a wonderful story and show them how to do a cute craft related to the story.

Speaking of cute crafts, don't forget about our Crafts To Go projects! They are handy craft kits with everything you need to make a creative craft project, all ready to take home and make at your convenience. There is a new kid's craft every week, plus a teen craft and adult craft once a month, and you can get any of them just by going up to the desk and asking.

The Screven-Jenkins Regional Library Board meeting will be at 4 pm on Thursday, May 12 at the Screven County Library.

New at the library

THE BLUEBONNET BATTLE by Carolyn Brown. In Bonnet, Texas, Liddy Latham is widely known as the queen of funeral dinners... until Matilda Monroe moves back to town after spending years living in the big city. Matilda's style is fancy, healthy, modern and vegan, about as far as it's possible to get from Liddy's famous fried chicken and classic Southern comfort food. Before anyone can so much as blink, Liddy and Matilda are right back to the bitter rivalry of their younger days, and it's ignited a family feud that's made even worse by their children Nick and Amelia daring to fall in love! Can they bring an end to the battle to win their happily ever after?

Well, that's all for now – see you at the library!
