

Jenkins County Memorial Library News 6-15-22

The library will be closed on Monday, June 20 in honor of Juneteenth. Have a great day as you celebrate freedom for all!

On Tuesday, June 21 at 2 pm we'll have another reason to celebrate, a visit from the boys in blue from the Millen Police Department! They'll be coming by to help teach you and your kids how to stay safe and happy in the summertime.

Don't forget that every Wednesday at 2 pm we will have our great in-house Craft Times here at the library! You can come create some fun crafts that won't work well as a Craft-To-Go, but are lots of fun to make and take home. (But don't worry, we will still have the Crafts-To-Go to take home with you as well!)

Next Saturday, June 25 at 11 am we will have our monthly Paint @ the Library class. This free adult painting class will show you how to make some fun art to hang on your wall or gift to friends and family. This month's class will feature a patriotic star to help you get ready for July 4!

Our last program of June will be one of the best – the folks from the Oatland Island Wildlife Refuge will be bringing some furry, feathered, and possibly scaly friends to meet us on Tuesday, June 28 at 2 pm! Come in and learn about our amazing Georgia wildlife, how they live and what they do.

New at the library

THE SHOP ON ROYAL STREET by Karen White. Nola Trenholm is looking to begin again in New Orleans, and what better way to start than with buying her first house? It's a real fixer-upper, it's true, but that's not the biggest problem. The historic home's previous owners aren't quite ready to leave, even though they're dead, and they want her gone. Nola isn't able to deal with ghosts herself like her stepmother can, but she knows someone in New Orleans who can. The problem is, that person is handsome Beau Ryan, whose dark past intersects with the history of her house in unsettling ways.

Well, that's all for now – see you at the library!
