

Scriven County Library News 8-3-22

Are your kids already getting homework? Bring them in to the library's temporary home at OTC and they'll be able to find books to do reports on and movies to help them relax after their busy school days.

Did you think that we'd never have any programs until we got back into the library building again? Well, think again – because next Saturday at 2 pm we will be having our Paint @ the Library adult painting class! That's right, you can learn to paint a cute cactus for free, right here at OTC, but space is limited so sign up today! Just follow the signs to the door leading to the room where we'll be having the class, and you'll be putting brush to canvas in no time.

And of course, for our younger creative types (and okay, quite a few older ones) we've also got our Crafts To Go every week! It's a fun little craft project that you can take home and make on your own schedule, and all you need to do is come in and ask for one at the desk.

The Scriven County Library Board of Trustees meeting has been rescheduled for Thursday, August 4 at 4 pm at OTC. The Scriven-Jenkins Regional Library System Board of Trustees meeting will be on Thursday, August 11 at 4 pm in the Jenkins County Memorial Library.

Want to know more about what's happening at the library? Head over to www.facebook.com/scrivencountylibrary and click "Like!" to have our latest news sent right to your Facebook feed! For the latest information about what library services are available and any progress on getting back into the library building, please visit www.sjrls.org/scl-power-outage.html

Well, that's all for now - see you at the library's temporary home at OTC, across the street from the library!